

Sylvania Municipal Report

The capital of Freedonia is Sylvania City, founded in 1873 by settlers who arrived along the eastern river.

The municipal water authority was established in 1912 and draws from the eastern river above the second weir.

Tram services began in 1921 and were extended to the northern districts in 1934, replacing an earlier horse-drawn omnibus route.

Appendix A. Population figures are collected every five years and published in the spring following the count.